THOMAS R. FENTRESS,
MERCHANT TAYLOR, RALEIGH N. C.
ONE DOOR ABOVE THE POST OFFICE.

THE Subscriber respectfully announces to his friends and patrons—to the members of the Legislature—and to strangers visiting the City, that he continues to carry on the Tailoring Business in all its branches at his old stand, where he shall be happy to see them and sell them great bargains. The subscriber had deemed it unnecessary recently to advertise his business, as he was so well known throughout the State; but for fear his old friends and customers might be under the impression that he was carried away by the great "tornado" which passed Northwards a few days ago, he has thought it best to inform them that he is still in business and hopes they will give him a call. He would say to old friends and customers that the liberal patronage he has received since he has been here, has cemented him still more closely to the good old State of North Carolina; and he trusts that their patronage will continue to be bestowed on one who feels he kindly appreciates it; and for his part there shall be nothing lacking to give entire satisfaction. He might say more, but it is sufficient for him to say that he has the feelings of a North Carolinian. He is permanently located here—his interests are here—and here he expects to live and die.

The Subscriber is a friend and well-wisher to all mechanical business in the "Old North State." He thinks it the duty of our people to encourage our own hard-working mechanics, and keep them with us, and not drive them from our borders by encouraging manufacturers at a distance from us. We may wish for good times and State improvements, but we will never see them until we come to depend on our own mechanics, on home manufactures and home industry. When we come to do this then will we see our Cities and Towns flourishing; and our means will not be sent off to the "great City" of New York or Boston for articles that can be made in this State as well as at either of these places, and on as good terms.

The Subscriber has on hand a beautiful assortment of GOODS, selected by himself in person in the Northern Markets, of the latest and most approved styles and patterns. His Goods were purchased this Fall, and are entirely new. They were bought on as good terms as those of any House in this City; and he flatters himself that he can offer as liberal if not better bargains than any other Estabiishment in this City or in the United States. Call and examine for yourselves. You must be your own judges, and you will find this no mere "puff." The Subscriber considers it unnecessary to say any thing about the skill in cutting or making, as his business is conducted by himself; and he will leave it to those who deal with him to judge of his capacity in this respect. His experience in business is such, and he has been so long before the public, that he will not stoop to commend his own skill and attainments. He leaves it to his friends and customers to judge of his superiority over many who presume to call themselves Tailors, or Cutters, or "Artists"—if you please. His workmen cannot be surpassed by any, North or South, and he invites the public to call and try him before purchasing elsewhere. He pledges his word for good bargains, as he is determined to sell low.

His Stock comprises every article kept in similar Establishments. There is nothing you may call for which you cannot get. Call and try the well known Establishment, one door North of the Post Office.

The Subscriber's Stock comprises the Super black French Cloths and Cassimers—plain and doeskin, of all qualities and prices, and a splendid assortment of fancy Cloth, which for colors and quality cannot be surpassed. Also, a beautiful lot of plain black Satin Vestings, and a superb article of fancy French Silk and Satins for parties, with a choice variety of Fancy Cassimers for winter wear, and a very large lot of fancy French Cassimers, which will be disposed of on a very small advance. Also, a general assortment of fancy articles, consisting of lamb's wool, merino and silk Under shirts and Drawers—Dress Shirts, black and white kid, merino, and fancy cassimere Gloves—Half hose, cotton and merino—black and fancy silk Cravats; all of which are offered at uncommonly low prices. Also, a beautiful lot of READY-MADE CLOTHING, made in my own House, and which will be disposed of at the most reasonable prices.

Call and examine for yourselves.

N. B. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. The London and Paris Fashions regularly received.

GREAT UNION MEETING IN BOSTON.

The Union meeting in Boston on the 26th was a glorious one. Faneuil Hall was crowded in every part. The Journal says "before 3 o'clock the crowd began to assemble, and long before the hour of calling the meeting to order, there was hardly a spot in the Hall where a man could put down even one foot, which was not occupied. A nobler gathering, for a nobler cause, never convened in Faneuil Hall. All classes were represented, and all seemed to rejoice in this opportunity to testify their attachment and never-ending devotion to those great principles which inspired their fathers in the formation of the Union and the Constitution, and to pledge their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honors, that the trust committed to their care should never suffer detriment at their hands."

The meeting was called to order at four o'clock, by THOMAS B. CURTIS, Esq., On ascending the platform he spoke as follows:

Friends of the Union! friends of the Constitution! I am instructed by the committee of arrangements to offer for your sanction the following plan of organization—

For President,
HON. JOHN C. WARREN,

a name dear in the annals of the Revolution, and connected with the history of Bunker Hill. [Great cheers.]

Vice Presidents:

Hon. David Henshaw of Leicester.
Hon. Nathan Appleton, of Boston.
Hon. Caleb Eddy.
Hon. H. A. S. Dearborn, of Roxbury.
John T. Heard, Esq., of Boston.
George G. Smith, Esq., "
Alfred Oreenouch, Esq., "
Samuel Lawrence, Esq., of Lowell.

Secretaries:

Charles, J. Hendee, of Roxbury.
A. W. Thaxter, Jr., of Boston.
George R. Sampson, "
Joseph Smith, of S. Boston.
Ivers J. Austin, of Boston.
T. J. Whittemore, of Cambridge.

This organization having been unanimously adopted, the President addressed the meeting as follows:—

It is not without reluctance that I appear before this great assembly to take part in the political proceedings of my fellow-countrymen. Having from an early period of life devoted myself to professional duties, I have not entered actively into the politics of the day; but I have never ceased to feel the deepest interest in the security and prosperity of our common country, and have ever considered, that, when these were in danger, it was my duty, as well as that of every good citizen, to devote mind and body to their protection and preservation. Such a crisis seems now to have arrived. The Union, and, consequently, the existence of this nation, are menaced and, unless, there is a great and general effort in their support, we may soon behold the mighty fabric of our government trembling over our heads, and threatening by its fall to crush the prosperity which we have so long and happily enjoyed.

It has been my lot to have lived during a period when there was no Constitution and no Union; when there was no commerce, no manufacturers, little of agriculture, or of any of the arts calculated to make a powerful and happy people. It was a period when there was no sound currency, no confidence between man and man, and no harmony in the action of the different States. It was a period when men's hands were turned against their neighbors, when the courts were beset with armed men, when law and justice were trampled under foot, when our best towns and villages were threatened with pillage, fire and the sword; when the soil was polluted with the blood of its own citizens. I remember the unorganized little band of fathers of families, who, in that emergency, issued from this place, feebly provided with arms or with the other means calculated to put down a daring and desperate rebellion. What a dark moment was this! What dreadful forebodings arose in the minds of those who had been expending their labor, their treasure and their blood for the safety of an unhappy country!

But in the midst of this gloom a ray of light showed itself. A constitution was proposed and, after a cautious investigation and careful adaptation to the varied interests of the country, was adopted as a bond of everlasting union. Under this constitution a new order of things has arisen. Commerce and agriculture have revived. Manufactures have everywhere grown up. Education, literature and science have been diffused in all our cities and towns. The highest prosperity has pervaded the nation and presented to the wondering eyes of Europe the spectacle of a federal republic, free without licentiousness and rich without luxury.

Now, let me ask, is there any one desirous of returning to the disunion of 1786?—Is there any one who is willing to trifle with, to spurn at or to go behind this constitution? If there is I cannot go with him. I go for the whole constitution and the whole Union, as the best security for the liberties of the people. For these I stand here; and if I am not ready to exert every faculty which I possess to uphold and maintain them, I shall be false to the blood which runs in my viens, false to the ancestors from whom I am descended, and false to every sentiment of my own heart. I stand, then, at all hazards, for the Constitution and the Union, one and indissoluble, now and forever.

Having concluded his remarks amidst cheers, the President took the chair.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

W. W. Greenough, Esq., now, in behalf of the Committee, read and submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the preservation of the Constitution and the Union is the paramount duty of all citizens;—that the blessings which have flowed from them in times past, which the whole country is now enjoying under them, and which we firmly believe posterity will derive from them hereafter, are incalculable, and that they vastly transcend in importance all other political objects and considerations whatever.

Resolved, That it would be folly to deny that there has been and still is danger to the existence of the Union, when there is prevalent so much of a spirit of disunion, constantly weakening its strength and alienating the minds of one part of the people of the United States from another, and that if this spirit be not checked and restrained, and do not give way to a spirit of conciliation and of the patriotic devotion to the general good of the whole country, we cannot expect a long continuance of the political tie which has hitherto made us one people; but must rather look to see groups of rival neighboring republics, whose existence will be a state of perpetual conflict and open war.

Resolved, That all the provisions of the Constitution of the United States—the supreme law of the land—are equally binding upon every citizen, and upon every State in the Union; that all laws passed by Congress, in pursuance of the Constitution, are equally binding on all the citizens, and no man is at liberty to resist or disobey any one constitutional act of Congress, any more than another; and that we do not desire or intend to claim the benefit of any of the powers or advantages of the Constitution—and to refuse, or seem to refuse to perform any part of its duties, or to submit to any part of its obligations.

Resolved, That the adjustment of the measures which disturbed the action of Congress for nearly ten months of its last session ought to be carried out by the people of the United States in good faith, in all the substantial provisions, because although we may differ with each other about the details of those measures, yet in our judgment, a renewed popular agitation of any of the main questions then settled, would be fraught with new and extreme dangers to the peace and harmony of the country, which this adjustment has happily restored.

Resolved, That every species and form of resistance to the execution of a regularly enacted law, except by peaceable appeal to the regular action of the judicial tribunals upon the question of its constitutionality—an appeal which ought never to be opposed or impeded—is mischievous, and subversive of the first principles of social order, tends to anarchy and bloodshed.

Resolved, That men who, directly or indirectly instigate or encourage those who are or may be the subjects of legal process, to offer violent resistance to the officers of the law, deserve the reprehension of an indignant community, and the severest punishment which its laws have provided for their offence, and that we have entire confidence that any combination or attempt to fix such a blot upon the fair fame of our State or City, will be strongly rebuked and punished, by an independent and impartial judiciary, and by firm and enlightened juries.

Resolved, That we will at all times, in all places, and under all circumstances, so far as our influence may extend, sustain the Federal Union, uphold its constitution, and enforce the duty of obedience to the laws.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.

WASHINGTON, Dec., 3rd, 1850.

The Message—Its Character—The Tariff—Rights of the States—South Carolina Members.

The message is an admirable public document, its style is clear and comprehensive—moderate, yet decided—conciliatory, yet firm. It omits none of the important topics, except, perhaps, Cuba, for which there may exist important diplomatic reason.

The review of the Constitution and of the rights of the States is masterly. It is impossible for human ingenuity to be more clear, explicit, and simple in the exposition of both. The critical knowledge of the philosophic thinker, and the modest capacity of the veriest empyric, are alike satisfied. The message will be read with pride some two or three centuries hence, as a proud evidence how much the present administration soared above the passions of the times.

A resolution is reported to have been introduced into the South Carolina Legislature asking their members and Senators not to take their seats in the present Congress.—Messrs. Burt and Holmes are the only members now present, and both had the good sense to take their seats without waiting for the instructions of their Legislature.

There is something—more than something, perhaps—in a name. One of the tales in Dickens, "Household Words" is entitled "The Cow with the Iron Tail." A more unique caption could scarcely be conceived or suggested.

Correspondence of the "Greensboro' Patriot."

RALEIGH, Nov. 27, 1850.

Notwithstanding the hard fight on yesterday—all of which you will get an account of from the papers of to-day—we had to-day a resolution declaring that a majority of the freemen of North Carolina were opposed to the N. C. Railroad, and asking the President to assemble the stockholders in order to surrender the charter. The resolution was ordered to lie on the table and be printed, and when it comes up will bring a direct vote either for or against the Road. I find there are several who will vote for the resolution; but I am clearly of the opinion that not more than one-fourth of the members will be found to sustain it. The fact is—and strange that it should be so—a number of those who live on the other Railroads are opposed to all improvements: they have got all they want, and are determined that no other portions of the State shall in the least be benefitted by Railroads or other improvements. Some of them, I verily believe, would be glad, were all the improvements of the State put down.

Elections have been made for Solicitors in the 2d, 4th and 5th judicial circuits, and all the Whig candidates got their "walking papers," although they got nearly, if not quite, the Whig strength.

All sorts of resolutions have been offered on the subject of negro slavery. While I am writing Mr. Wm. B. Shepard is making one of his best speeches, bearing on the subject of secession and intended to show that that is the only course to be pursued by the South. God knows I am not yet ready for a dissolution of the Union. While the Constitution of the United States shall be faithfully observed, I am disposed to stand by it; and if the powers that be will do their duty, we of the South have nothing to fear.

CONGRESS.

In conformity with the Constitution, the second session of the Thirty-first Congress commenced on Monday last, at 12 M.

The usual number of copies of the Message were ordered to be printed, for the use of the members.

GEN. HAMILTON.

A letter from this distinguished citizen of South Carolina, to the people of that State, appears in a late number of the "National Intelligencer." It is, upon the whole, one of the most conservative and sensible documents that we have seen, during the entire progress of the Slavery agitation; and emanating as it does, from a gentleman of so much weight of character and such extended influence, is destined, we hope, to have a salutary effect upon the public mind and upon the public action.

We are truly sorry, however, that Gen. Hamilton could not have discussed the subject before him, without stopping, by the way-side, to twirl a stone, rather contemptuously, at North Carolina. We know that there is a strong disposition, on the part of our Carolina neighbors, to the South of us, to underrate or ridicule everything North Carolinian. That is peculiarly one of the cockneyisms of the "Charleston Mercury," without which that print could not make pretensions, even, to wit. It is really a matter of regret, therefore, that Gen. Hamilton, in elevating himself, by the patriotic sentiments of his letter, above the arena of South Carolina faction, could not, at the same time, have elevated himself above the silly prejudices of South Carolina politicians. The serenity of our "accustomed and refreshing slumber," of which Gen. H. speaks, will hardly be disturbed, however, by either their prejudice or passion!

RITCHIE vs. FISHER.

"Old as he is—for such fierce broils unfit—
"He leaves a scar, to be remembered, yet."

Between the Washington Union and the Southern Press, a bitter feud exists; and so far as we can judge, by extracts in the latter paper, (for we do not exchange with the other,) Old Dryasdust of the Union seems rather an overmatch for his Quaker adversary.

Here is one of Ritchie's late hits:

'What fools our revolutionary fathers were to think that Union was essential to the glory, prosperity, and freedom of their country! But let us do justice to their memories; they lived too soon, they had never read Seward's speeches, or the editorials of the Southern Press!'

To this, Fisher faintly echoes the following attempt at a retort:

"What fools our revolutionary fathers were to think that a Constitution was at all essential to the glory, prosperity and freedom of their country! But let us do justice to their memories; they lived to soon; they had never seen Clay's Compromise, or the editorials of the Washington Union!"

JUDGE BERRIEN'S SPEECH AT SAVANNAH.

The Savannah Republican of the 21st contains a short notice of this speech, from which we make the following extracts. Judge B. spoke for three hours. In the conclusion he said: 'For the many wrongs which in his judgment the South had received, he proposed no remedies outside the constitution, no acts of resistance to the Government, no blow against the Union. He depicted the inevitable discords and dissensions which would ensue upon any effort to form new confederacies, and demonstrated the certain and terrible evils which would attend a dissolution of the Union. He proposed to fight the battles of the South IN the Union and upon the constitution, and denied to any man, or set of men, the right to drag him out of the Union, without his consent."

The Republican adds: 'Upon the whole, he is the strongest Union man we have yet met with.'

Mr. Nixon presented a memorial of the Commissioners and citizens of the town of Wilmington, praying for authority to subscribe for 1000 shares to the W. & M. Railroad Company; referred to Committee on Internal Improvement.

Mr. Cameron, from the Committee on Corporations, reported the bill to incorporate the Greenville and Raleigh Plank Road Company, with an amendment.

Also, the bill to incorporate Rock Spring Camp Ground, in Lincoln county, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration; which was not granted.

Also, the bill to incorporate Murfreesboro' Joint Stock Company, and recommended its passage.

Mr. Barringer presented a resolution, instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of making provision for the attendance of the Attorney and Solicitor General at each session of the Legislature, for the purpose of obtaining their revision of the acts passed; which was agreed to.

Mr. Lane presented a bill to incorporate Union Institute, Randolph county, as a Normal College; which was referred to the Committee on Education.

On motion of Mr. Berry, a message was sent to the House, proposing to go into the election of Comptroller, to morrow at 12 o'clock.

The bills to incorporate Union Lodge, No. 99, in the town of Salisbury; to amend a former act to incorporate the town of Gatesville, in Gates county; to repeal an act to abolish jury trials in Rutherford and Cleaveland County Courts; to amend the Revised Statutes in relation to apprentices; were severally read the second time and passed.

Mr. Thomas, from the Committee on Internal Improvement, reported the bill to authorise the Seaboard and Roanoke R. R. Co. to issue bonds, without amendment, and recommended its passage.

Also the resolution for the relief of Thomas and John Cochran, with an amendment, which was adopted; and resolution passed second reading.

The bill to amend Revised Statutes relating to free persons of color, on board vessels as sailors, was read and laid upon the table for the present, on motion of Mr. Washington,

The proposition of the House to elect Comptroller to day at 1 o'clock, was disagreed to; that to print Report of Commissioners of Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, was concurred in.

The special order of the day, being the bill calling a Convention to amend the Constitution of the State, was then taken up, and read the second time, when

Mr. Woodfin proceeded to address the Senate, at considerable length, in favor of the Bill.

[We shall give an abstract of this able speech, hereafter.]

Mr. Bower moved its reference to the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution.

Mr. Gilmer expressed surprise at this movement on the part of the Senator from Ashe. If that gentleman would consult the wishes and interests of his constituents, he would hesitate long before making a motion so well calculated to jeopard the success of the Bill. Mr. Bower rejoined and stated the reason for his course to be, that time for reflection was important on so momentous a subject. After a short debate between Messrs. Gilmer, Bower, Courts and Shepard, and before the question was put,

Mr. Washington said, he should vote for the motion of the Senator from Ashe, (Mr. Bower,) to refer the Bill before the Senate to the Committee raised on Amendments of the Constitution, not for the purpose suggested by the Senator from Guilford, (Mr. Gilmer,) of avoiding a discussion of its merit; but for the reasons stated by the Senator from Ashe, (Mr. Bower,) and the Senator from Rockingham, (Mr. Courts,) besides one or two others which he begged leave to mention. He would, however, in the first place enquire of the Senator from Guilford, (Mr. Gilmer,) how a discussion of the question was to be avoided by committing the Bill. It would still be open for discussion, whether the report be favorable or unfavorable. The question would still be on the passage of the Bill to a second reading, which is clearly debatable and involves the whole merits of the measure.

It had always been considered a wise and salutary practice to refer all bills of importance, and no gentleman could deny the fact that the present was such a bill; it contemplates nothing less than a thorough change of the Organic Law of the State. And it was no answer to say that its provisions were few and simple; they required to be maturely considered and properly presented for the action of the Senate.

Besides, there were various other propositions for the Amendment of the Constitution, all of which had been already referred to the appropriate Committee. He (Mr. W.) did not know what Senators composed that Committee, nor did he care to know their names or opinions; nor did he care whether they sent a favorable or unfavorable report upon this particular measure. He was by no means prepared to say that important Amendments of the Constitution were not required—and while he would express no opinion in advance on this bill, he was desirous that it and all kindred measures should be truly and fairly considered by the Committee; and he should therefore vote to refer, and hoped the motion would prevail.

The Senate agreed to refer, by a vote of Ayes 40; Nays 9; and, on motion

The Senate adjourned.

BALTIMORE.

THE increased patronage of this long established and popular Hotel, under the management of its present proprietor, has inspired him with further energy and determination, and no expense or attention of his or that of his Assistants will be spared, to maintain with the patrons of the "FOUNTAIN" the reputation it held all over the country, in its "palmiest days" of Beltzhoover's conductorship.

To increase its former attractions and comforts, during the past season, the Hotel has undergone many changes, the Proprietor having made heavy outlays in introducing some of the best and latest improvements—which, together with its central position, being located in the very heart of the business portion of the city, and near the centre of Baltimore Street, and within a few minutes walk of all the Depots and Steam Boat Landings, it invites the Merchant, the Farmer, the Artisan, as well as the Man of Pleasure to make the FOUNTAIN HOTEL his home during his sojourn in Baltimore.

The Ladies' Department,

Containing Private Parlors, Saloons, Reception Rooms, Ordinary, and extensive suites of large and airy Chambers, fitted up in a style and elegance that cannot fail to give satisfaction and comfort.

PORTERS are attached to the "Fountain," who may be recognized by the Badges on their Hats, and are always in the attendance at the different Depots and Steamboat Landings, who will receive Checks, take charge of the Baggage and convey it to the Hotel.
